

CONTENTS

---

A Letter From the Editors	3
An Acrylic Reproduction of a 14th Century Manuscript Jasmine Zhou, Pomona College	5
Interviews Lily Sickman-Garner, Smith College	6
Book Review on “The Saint and the Count: A Case Study for Reading Like a Historian” by Leah Shopkow Amy Kitmacher, Smith College	12
Book Review on "Alone Together: Poetics of the Passions in Late Medieval Iberia" by Henry Berlin Marian Zens, Smith College	14
Hildegard of Bingen: A Self-Made Saint Jasmine Zhou, Pomona College	16
“Victim, Cocktease, Wimp”: Rethinking Cecily Chaumpaigne SJ Waring, Smith College	25
"Persians at the Port of Pisa: Diplomatic and Trade Relations between the Carolingians and the Abbāsids during the Reigns of Charlemagne and Hārūn al-Rashīd" Selin Apaydin, Smith College	32
Women and their Roles in Early Christianity Isabella Double, Smith College	41
Maryam, Androtokos: The Qur'anic Mary, Her Origins, and Her Implications Selin Apaydin, Smith College	47
"Maþþumgyfa, Mægburh, Mearcstapa: Colonial Identity-Building in the Text and Treatment of Beowulf" Colette Calegari, Smith College	55
“Impaired Gods and Holy Wounds: Disability in the Eschatology of the Early Medieval North Atlantic” Kaitlin Hapgood, Smith College	75