

CONTENTS

A Letter From the Editors	4
“The Sting of Bitter Grief”: Child Loss in the Middle Ages Isabella Double, Smith College	5
Small Objects for Intimate Spaces: Touch and Stimulation in the Renaissance Studiolo Wyatt Keleshian, Vassar College	24
Book Review on In the Manner of the Franks: Hunting, Kingship, and Masculinity in Early Medieval Europe Fern Poling, Smith College	36
Espaces, objets, humains et leur rapport dans le lai du Rossignol Xinran Chen, Smith College	39
Mediaeval Monastic Orientalism? Sanctity and the East in the Works of Bernard of Clairvaux Clara Mehta Bykvist, University of Edinburgh	47
Beauty or the Beast: Monstrosity and Courtliness in Lavinia Fontana’s Portrait of Tognina Gonzalez Sophie Durbin, Amherst College	58
Book Review on Between Christian and Jew: Conversion and Inquisition in the Crown of Aragon, 1250–1391 Madison Julio, Smith College	71
Ravana’s Failures of Conquest: Gendered Spaces in The Ramayana Adhithi Anjali, University of California, Davis	75
Modest is Hottest : La chasteté dans La Cité des dames Dalia Dainora Cohen, Smith College	82

Establishing and Preserving Presence and Identity: Embroidery as Agency in the Rupertsberg Antependium	89
Fern Poling, Smith College
Universal Monarchs and Heirs of Alexander: Imperial Imagery in the Reigns of Charles V and Süleyman the Magnificent	99
Harry Gerald Henderson, University of Toronto
Saint Brigit of Kildare, the “Mary of the Gaels”: The Many Faces of Ireland’s Only Female Patron Saint	112
Isabel Birge, Smith College	