

METAMORPHOSES

ERRATUM (vol. 30 issue 1 Spring/Summer 2022)

The biography of of Dominique Delpirou, co-translator of a poem from the Catalan by Narcís Comadira, was omitted accidentally. We apologize for the error.

DOMINIQUE DELPIROU, French writer and translator, was the artistic director of the company, Choliambe. He produced, in particular, Journey to Armenia by Ossip Mandelstam, The Prose of the Trans Siberian by Blaise Cendrars, A Poet in New York, by Federico Garcia Lorca, The Sickness of Sense by Bernard Noël and Medea by Mathieu Bénézet. He also presented several readings of American poetry (Williams, Kerouac, Ginsberg whose Howl he translated with Sonia Alland). His notable work on Mallarmé was published by the Sorbonne's Presses Universitaires. It was distinguished with an award by the Académie Française. With Sonia Alland, he translated Salvador Espriu's Catalan version of Antigone, and alone, the one by the Peruvian poet, José Watanabe. He is also the translator of Katabasis, a volume of poetic prose by the Colombian poet, Lucía Estrada.